AMUSEMENTS.

A SUCCESSFUL MELODRAMA.

Melodrama, magnificently staged and well acted, will be the bill at the Grand to-night, when Edwin C. White's production of "Gypsy Jack" will be given with Willis Granger as the star. The story hinges on the struggles of a gypsy, who at the death-bed of his reputed mother is told that he is the son of a wealthy English nobleman. He seeks out and discovers his father, just in time to controvert the designs of a pair of villains, who are endeavoring to gain possession of the estates which rightfully belong to Jack. There are many exciting melodramatic episodes in the piece, which are handled in the most consistent style. Many beautiful stage settings enhance the interest of the story.

Prices, 25c, 35c, 50c and 75c.

A TREAT OF COMEDY.

Rarely do the theatre-goers of Paris have such a treat ahead of them as may be expected next Friday, when Mrs. LeMoine, the most delightful comedy actress on the American stage, fills an engagement of one night at the Grand in a new and original play of modern life, by Glen MacDonough, entitled "Among Those Present." In this play Mrs. LeMoine is believed to be better fitted with regard to her talents than in any other dramatic vehicle she has had. She comes to us in the role of Mrs. Clinton, purveyor of amusement and leader of fashion to the Four Hundred. Enormous plans and pretentious shows involve her in financial difficulties. Dramatic situations and powerful climaxes ensue, but in the fourth act the clever author solves the Gordian knot and the spectators go home happy. The play is said to be distinguished by bright and sparkling dialogue, coherent plot and well-drawn character types.

The mounting of the play by Manager George H. Brennan has been made with a view to reproducing accurately the surroundings and atmosphere of fashionable life in New York and Long Island colony. The scenery is by the best metropolitan artists; the costumes by Worth, of Paris, and Dunstan of New York. Mrs. LeMoine is supported by a strong New York company.

The very funny farce-comedy, "On the Quiet," has been booked for the Grand Opera House, in this city, on Jan 27th. "The Belle of New York" will be seen here on the 29th inst.

A Telephone Complaint.

The following appears in the Woodford Sun, the reference being to the Fayette Telephone:

Editor of The Sun:—The telephones in Versailles are in "trouble"—they are in deep "trouble," I have been told so, by actual count, on 366 calls during the past week, and I think it is about time something was done for them, ere they perish miserably in their sorrows. Call up "most any number you like and 'Central' will promptly tell you 'Line's in trouble; can't get them.' Then there is that fellow at 'Central' that comes on at 6 p. m. He is in trouble, too. It is with his ears. "Give me 46," you request. "Thirty-six?" he asks. "No, 46," you repeat firmly. "Sixty-six?" he asks. "No!" you shout, "forty-six!" "Oh, 76 you want, why—" "No, no, no, forty-six, forty-six, you deaf ass!" you exclaim in almost hopelessness. "Oh, yes, it's 46 you want; you speak so distinctly," and then he lies your 'phone up somewhere, so that you can't get the party you want, ring 'Central, or yourself, or anybody else for two and a half hours, and your profanity is kept penned up in the bosom of your family until it becomes very deadly, so to speak.
